

The Strait Years

Elaine Seavey

The fifth and final book in the "Maverick Series," The Strait Years, tells about the years we spent living on the shores of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, on Washington's Olympic Peninsula. Here we enjoyed exploring this beautiful area, and many water related activities. Much time was spent cruising among the islands in US and Canadian waters with a thirty-foot cabin cruiser named the Maverick...mooring in remote little bays, enjoying seaside villages, and living off the land and sea...all in a setting of magnificent mountain scenery.

Born in Minnesota, while married with four children I earned a Master's Degree in Art. During my teaching years I submitted numerous articles regarding some of our art projects, which were published in a monthly magazine for art educators. In 1979, the children grown, we retired early. For many years we lived a fulltime RV lifestyle, traveling across the USA, Canada and Mexico. Eventually we purchased a home in Port Angeles, Washington, overlooking the Strait of Juan de Fuca. Here we explored the Olympic Peninsula, and with a 30-foot cabin cruiser spent much time cruising in US and Canadian waters.
